SUMMER 2019 | ¡VOLTEE PARA ESPAÑOL!

Did you know?

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, only about half of U.S. adults meet the physical activity guidelines for aerobic exercise. A variety of fun activities like walking, dancing, swimming and more can help you get moving this summer.

Sunny days.

Stay safe this summer.

Summer is a great time for kids to be active and play outside. But it's important to remember that the sun's rays can be harmful. Here are a few tips to help protect you and your kids this summer:

- Apply sunscreen. Use sunscreen with an SPF of 15 or greater. Apply it generously 30 minutes before going outside. Also make sure the sunscreen is broad spectrum. This means it protects from both UVA and UVB rays.
- Use sunglasses. Sunglasses protect the eyes from UV rays. Not using proper eye protection can lead to eye problems later in life.
- Mind the time. Try to go outside in the early morning or late afternoon. The sun's rays are less strong at these times.

The truth about vaping.

Many people have the idea that vaping is safer than smoking. Since vaping is so new, the long-term effects are not yet known. Most vaping cartridges contain nicotine. No matter how it is delivered, nicotine is known to cause addiction and can affect brain development, memory, learning and mood. The cartridges without nicotine still have chemicals that can be harmful to your lungs, lowering your performance in sports and physical activities. Some of these chemicals include the flavorings that make them taste like candy, fruit, ice cream, or other foods and drinks.

Vaping can be especially dangerous for teens. If your child or their friends are vaping, you should encourage them to quit. You can explain that the sooner someone quits, the better their body can fix the damage caused by vaping. This will also decrease the chances of long-term conditions such as cancer. If you or your child needs help quitting, talk to your doctor to discuss your options.

Is it a stroke?

Strokes happen when a blood vessel in the brain bursts or is blocked. Depending on which brain areas are affected and how long it was before treatment began, stroke survivors may suffer mild to severe disabilities.

Symptoms.

Knowing the symptoms of stroke can help you get medical help fast. Symptoms include sudden:

- Numbness or weakness of the face, arm or leg.
- Confusion, trouble speaking or understanding.
- Vision changes in one or both eyes.
- Trouble walking or staying balanced.
- Severe headache.
- Drowsiness.
- Nausea or vomiting.

Signs.

There are 3 simple tasks that can help you determine if someone is having these symptoms. If someone is having a stroke, they may not be able to:

- Smile.
- Raise both arms.
- Coherently speak a simple sentence.

Shared decision making.

Your decisions make a difference in mental health care.

Shared decision making allows you and your provider to be partners in your treatment plan. You are able to speak up about your treatment options. Your provider values your opinion. Tell your provider what you value and think is the best plan. This can help guide the decisions on what treatment plan is the best for you.

This is important for mental health care because you are the biggest expert of your own life. The more you tell your provider about yourself, the more likely your treatment plan will succeed. It is important to share things such as your experiences, life history, preferences, values, cultural beliefs, what treatments have or have not worked for you in the past, and what matters to you.

It is the role of your provider to know you and help make decisions about your care. Your provider knows available treatment options and resources, and through shared decision making can determine what option is best for you.

Prepare for your visit by making a list of questions and/or concerns. At the visit, tell your provider about the things that are important to you and be willing to say why these things are important. Ask questions and take notes. Also, don't be afraid to contact your provider if you decide you are not happy with the decision that has been made. Your provider is there to treat you with the best care possible while considering your decisions.

Charting health.

Well-child visits keep track of growth and development.

It's important to have well-child visits with your child's primary care provider (PCP) on time. These visits may also be called checkups or Early and Periodic Screening, Diagnostic and Treatment (EPSDT) visits. Children need regular well-child visits as they age.

At well-child visits, your child's PCP will do an exam. The PCP will check your child's height, weight and other health measures. Your child will get any tests and vaccines they are due for.

Your PCP will also help you track your child's health. They may give you information on important topics, including:

- Sleep.
- Safety.
- Childhood diseases.
- What to expect as your child grows.

Getting the right care.

Where to go for the care you need.

Choosing the right place to go when you are sick or hurt can help you be seen faster. It is important to choose a primary care provider (PCP). Make an appointment to see your PCP before you have an urgent need.

See your PCP whenever possible. Your PCP has easy access to your records, knows the bigger picture of your health and may even offer same-day appointments to meet your needs. You may want to see your PCP for needs or symptoms such as:

- Skin rash.
- Minor injuries.
- Flu shot.
- Earache.

If you cannot get in to see your PCP, you can go to an urgent care center. Urgent care centers take walk-in patients. You could go to urgent care for:

- Cough or cold.
- Fever or sore throat.
- Stomach pain.
- Minor cuts or burns.

Emergency rooms are for major medical emergencies only. Go there only when you think your illness or injury could result in death or disability if not treated right away.

For general health questions, call our toll-free NurseLine<sup>SM</sup> at 1-877-370-4009, TTY 711, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Get answers for questions such as:

- Choosing where to get medical care.
- Finding a doctor or hospital.
- Health and wellness help.
- Medicine questions.

We're here for you. From scheduling a checkup to finding a doctor, you can count on us to help you get care as quickly as possible. If you have questions, please call Member Services toll-free at 1-877-743-8731, TTY 711.
